

Temple Beth Or Bulletin

A VIEW FROM THE BIMAH

May 2016 ~ Nisan/Iyyar 5776

As I write this, Sandy Lynn and I have just returned from a long weekend in New York, visiting our daughter Alex – partly a birthday visit and partly to watch her perform with her repertory company, the Upright Citizens Brigade (we also saw a performance of the comedic improv group known as “The Pit,” and the incredibly staged Broadway show of “The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Nighttime”]. It was altogether a fabulous visit, including some “New York” moments that belie the stereotypes.

For example, we were on a very crowded subway, discussing the best way to get downtown. Someone overheard us and offered some advice; then someone else, and in moments literally a dozen people were loudly discussing the pros and cons of express vs. local, which stations offered the fewest steps and closest platform changes, which line might be best. These people were an international rainbow of diversity – evident diversity in culture, gender preferences, native language and economic wherewithal. Yet to help out a couple of visitors – even though we actually knew the NY subway system pretty well – they were a community, and in that moment the diversity itself bridged barriers.

And what occurred to me is how many politicians these days speak of bringing the “real” America back, the good ol’ days of some rural or semi-rural idealized past. The “real” America is, in fact, the diversity that no longer knows of majority and minority – if ever there was such a time. Now we only have minorities, though this reality is more apparent in our cities where one easily loses count of how many sub-groups compose our society these days. Ultimately, those who recoil at the reality that is today’s America have an increasingly distorted image. Embracing our differences yet finding underlying unity is so important to the well-being of our society.

Stereotypical New Yorkers don’t greet strangers on the sidewalk; have no time for niceties, for the pace of life is too frenetic. Yet when we were engulfed in the human rush-hour crush – sidewalks so crowded you felt you could lift your feet and just be carried along – we dropped a scarf and the crowds parted while several passers-by paused to help. We saw a family walking their pet tortoise in Central Park, and crowds gathered to discuss the finer points of the dandelion diet. In a busy vegan restaurant we praised the creative dishes, and the owner came over to sit with us and share her list of ingredients and spices.

None of this is very profound and, truth to tell, we really don’t miss the big city. We’re glad to be home in Montgomery. But we were again impressed with how easy it is to become parochial in one’s views – to see our local world as if that’s all there is – like that old New Yorker cartoon that shows the whole country beyond the Hudson River as a narrow blur, as if New York is all there is. The “real” America and the “real” Americans are long gone, if ever they existed and I, for one, am proud to embrace our diversity.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I have had several questions and comments about the status of the proposed merger since the March 6th meeting. Temple Beth Or had a good, representative attendance and the meeting went well. Not surprisingly when working on something as important as this, some concerns came up and we are now trying to work through that to determine how to proceed. At this point any vote on the intent to merge will be delayed. Unfortunately, that is all the information I have at this point, but rest assured that updates will be forthcoming when there is something to share.

It is hard for me to believe that this is my next to last bulletin article (next month's will be a re-print of my annual report) and my term as president of Temple Beth Or is almost over. I say with all honesty that it has been an honor and a pleasure. I have enjoyed this job more than I anticipated and am proud of the work that we as a community have accomplished. It does, indeed, take a village.

Some may choose to point out our challenges and, to be sure, there are a few. It is difficult to ignore our changing demographics and the fact that we are smaller than in years past. It would be fabulous if we had an influx of young families to build and ensure our future, but that is not our current reality. However, who knows what the future may hold in that regard? I am encouraged that the leadership chooses to concentrate on our opportunities and do many things to continue to strengthen our congregation. For a congregation our size I think we do amazingly well. Percentage wise we have a nice attendance at our weekly Shabbat service, but we always want more participation and hope YOU will join us. It really is a lovely way to end the week.

I believe being forward thinking is important to our survival and the continuation of our historic congregation in Montgomery. Change is inevitable and those organizations and businesses that evolve, make use of available resources and plan are the ones that tend to thrive. We have tried to do that. Rabbi Stevens, your Board of Directors and the committees have worked diligently on your behalf. I am so proud of Temple Beth Or – who we are, what we represent and what we have and do contribute to the greater Montgomery community.

If I have one wish it would be that every member participates in some way. That can be attending services and maybe welcoming visitors, serving on a committee, supporting programs (educational ones and just for fun ones), helping with an event, being on the board, serving as an officer and so many other opportunities. There are big jobs and small jobs, one-time jobs and ongoing jobs, but they are all important. We all have different talents and time available, but I am confident that there is a place for you to be involved and Temple Beth Or will benefit. Please do not underestimate the significance of what you can contribute with your presence. Together we can accomplish more.

I sincerely thank you for your support and your help – you are wonderful!

L'shalom

SISTERHOOD

Another busy and successful year is coming to an end. It's hard to believe that it's already May 2016!

We were all inspired by the beautiful Seder chaired by Julie Goolsby and led by Rabbi Stevens. Our family Seder requires a lot of detail and help from so many people. Thank you to Karen Lieberman, Marlene Beringer, Susan Finklestein, and Susan Bernstein for their help in preparing the traditional Seder delicacies and to all of the ladies who helped set up. Dinner was delicious and the tables looked awesome.

Please mark your calendar on May 19th when we will close out our year at the home of Diane Weil. You will receive an Evite by email or an invitation in the mail. This will be a late afternoon wine and cheese gathering so I hope to see all of you. New Sisterhood officers will be installed by Rabbi Stevens and we will recap the past year and celebrate our successes!

STUDY OPPORTUNITIES WITH RABBI STEVENS

ADULT EDUCATION SERIES ON THE HOLOCAUST
ALTERNATE TUESDAYS AT NOON, STARTING MARCH 29

The Holocaust [Shoah in Hebrew, “conflagration”] was the single most destructive event in Jewish history and, as the only example where the entire apparatus of a state was explicitly directed toward the world-wide extirpation of an entire people, unique in human experience. The study of the Holocaust must address disturbing and difficult questions raised by that experience. What can we learn from the long history of anti-Semitism? Who made the decision for the “final solution”? Could the Jews have done more to protect themselves? Why was the Pope silent, and was his silence justified? Should the Allies have bombed Auschwitz? How ethical were the Judenrate [Jewish Councils within the ghettos]?

This class will be in five parts:

- Session I: The Origins and History of Anti-Semitism [March 29]
- Session II: The Rise of Nazism [April 12]
- Session III: The Nazi Regime Through Kristallnacht [April 26]
- Session IV: The Shoah [May 10]
- Session V: The Aftermath of the Holocaust [May 24]

All sessions will be led by Rabbi Stevens and are open to all at no charge; classes meet in the Blachschleger Library on alternate Tuesdays, 12-1 p.m.

THE STRENGTH OF A PEOPLE. THE POWER OF COMMUNITY

FROM OUR COMMUNITY SH'LICHA, DANA

Being in Israel during May is a very special experience. All the streets and the buildings are covered with the Israeli flags, and you can feel the festiveness in the air before the Israeli Independence day – “Yom Ha’Atzmaut.” But every Israeli knows that this celebration will not start without mentioning our Memorial Day – “Yom HaZikaron”, only a day before it.

Yes, in Israel there are exactly 24 hours separating our happiest day and our saddest day. Most people would be more familiar with Independence Day, the celebration of the establishment of the Jewish State. Israel’s Memorial Day is not as familiar but is as significant, and it commemorates Israel’s fallen soldiers and victims of terror. Israel has been through many wars, military operations, and countless terror attacks. In the Israeli society everybody knows someone who got killed during serving in the army. In Hebrew a person who was killed is called a “Chalal” which means space, due to space left after he or she is gone. Every single Israeli citizen has someone to remember on Yom HaZikaron.

On this Yom HaZikaron I remember Avi Grintzvaig.

Avi was born on August 11th 1993 in Petach Tikvah, and was called after his grandfather, Avraham. He was the first boy who said to me: “I love you,” when we were in 7th grade. I got to know him so well back then because of his twin sister, Inbal. She and I were in the same class and she was one of my best friends. But after starting high-school Avi and I grew apart... Avi was such a talented guitar player, he performed in every program at our high school, and even got to perform with his band in the famous “Independence Rock” concert in Israel! In November 2011 Avi joined the Nachal Brigade, and the last time I saw him was when his company came to one of the educational seminars I guided, almost 3 years before he was killed.

When Operation Protective Edge started, Avi’s unit was sent to Beit Chanun, Gaza. Avi’s girlfriend, Melory, came straight back to Israel after 6 months in Hawaii, in order to see him one more time. On July 25th 2014, during preparation for one of their missions, the force was attacked by rockets and grenades. Avi wasn’t there at that time, but when he heard the explosions he left everything and ran to help his friends. He saw them injured and started evacuating them under fire. He was hit very hard, and died before passing the border back to Israel. For his bravery and brotherhood Avi received a Citation from the Chief of Southern Command.

Last year on Memorial Day one of the radio stations played a song for each of the 67 soldiers who were killed in Operation Protective Edge. Avi’s family chose for him the song “Ani Gitarah” = I am a guitar, to honor one of his biggest loves in life.

Many people in Israel are against having these two days, because it is so hard, and even impossible, to have only 60 seconds to turn from sadness to happiness. But days are attached not only by their timing, but also by their meaning. These days are connected in the very core, and this is why they could never be separated. One would not exist without the other. We would not have our Jewish State if not for all those who sacrificed their lives in the consistent battle for our independence. We owe it to them.

I hope you can join us on May 10th for a community Yom HaZikaron Service, 6:30 pm at Agudath Israel Etz Ahayem Synagogue. This service will expose you to the Israeli Memorial Day, and it is dedicated to Avi. We are looking for volunteers who would like to participate by reading at the service. If you are interested please contact me.

May 15th ISRAEL fest 68! 5-8 pm at Wynlakes Country Club, come celebrate the sights, sounds and spirit of Israel. This year we are going to have a couple of unique performances- our beloved former Shaliach and leading singer, Shimon Smith, and the very talented stand-up comedian, Yuval Haklai. Please contact the Federation office in order to make your reservation.

Shalom,

Dana

NEED HELP GETTING AROUND DURING SERVICES?

A wheelchair and walker are stored in the coat closet and are available to members and guests during Temple events.

If you have accumulated unused Temple Beth Or donation envelopes please feel free to drop them off at the Temple office so they may be reused.

We would like to know. Please call the temple office when a family member is in the hospital or ailing. Too often we find out about illnesses, crises and hospitalizations long after they occur. This is a missed opportunity for the calls and visits the rabbi would like to share. Please let the temple know if there is a concern in your family or another congregation family (with their permission).

We need your help in order to offer ours.
